- Declared need: The customer says that he wants an affordable alternative
- Real needs: The customer wants an option that is affordable in operation
- Undated needs: The customer expects the seller to take care of this in an optimal way
- Luxury needs: The customer wants the seller to ship with a maintenance system for free

– Secret needs: The customer wants the boss to think he is a very skilled buyer who has managed to achieve such a good deal.

Meeting the customer's needs is temporarily a slightly narrow and passive perception of the role of virility in the market. To explain this in more detail, we can distinguish between responsive marketing, predictive marketing, and creative marketing.

I've been working a bit with language since it is a multi-cultural world. So since I have been moving around in different working positions, I have experienced many different speaking peoples. This has been good for me but also not that good cause I haven't really found the right spot too be at and relax.

I think that's the way we are supposed to be, and that's some of life's peace full facts. I'm a fast learner and like new actions to learn. I like city life as well as nature and live quite well with both of them.

As my past of that time, present jobs have been quality workplaces? Well to develop, from mountain to sea lay down resources of organizations or rebuild, make a future for them and develop training for my companions and colleagues. I appreciate a good challenge and go as a "student of life" is always personal to dimensional growth.

My responsible attitude at doing my job comes from 2 stars Michelin hotels to start and develop sushi bars and restaurants a bit around Norway. Also being an intern with closing, building, and making a profit exclusive projects come true.

I hope into the future more happiness and a good experience.

And that I'm in the right position to handle the situation I'm in. When 98` I Had a stand with the Norwegian Salmon products as went to be WC

Quality of fish products. Tho later attend in 2001 to make Sushi in Bar and restaurant. Development with the demand for raw material to eat. I also got to learn more and more about Asian kitchens in India, Vietnam, Japan, China, and Mandarin.

As it went in perspective into today. I worked with Bocuse D`or winners as a team and individuals. Presentable respected manners with the swing of gentlemen. Some continued the art of cooking and got the food within reach. While others went artist, as a presentation of culture, religions, and the feast.

Knowledge and wisdom with abundance as a LAUDATO SI. I did also present a culture move threw nurish as I sent it to the Pope Francis of the Vatican. While I might have not lived to the fullest. The Cultural, religious fame and perspective of getting together and eat to learn culture. From products to food product and further way of the spice, herb, vegetables, fruit, nuts the plant of ocean plant treats. In a Restaurant called Vatikanet promo for Christianity, merch trade for products. In a special restaurant with enviornment for nature callings and aspects to protect their history.

So Into forms , shapes, swings, slides, minds and hearts to combine. Solution to a expression form Norse or Runes settled at cards. May the combo of them tell or no, what to get,say or obey. The holy calendar as proven Norse vibe is start a referral. The past,present makes future into a oddesy most man of north never been. Oil painting.
